Day 3: Cinque Terre: Coastal Trails & Colorful Dreams

Today is all about soaking in the beauty of Cinque Terre at your pace. We'll all start the morning together in the first village before splitting into two relaxed, scenic options: a shorter coastal hike paired with train travel between villages, or a breezy boat tour along the coastline. Both offer incredible views, delicious food stops, and plenty of time to explore.

 Option 1: Scenic Coastal Hike + Train Between Villages

Commitment Level: Moderate | 1.5–2 hours of hiking

This is the perfect way to experience Cinque Terre's famous trails without committing to a full-day trek. We'll hike one of the most beautiful sections of the Blue Trail—typically Corniglia → Vernazza or Vernazza → Monterosso—giving you iconic cliffside views, colorful villages, and Mediterranean landscapes.

After the hike, we'll use the Cinque Terre train to hop between the remaining villages, giving you time to wander, shop, swim, or enjoy a long seaside lunch.

Why guests love this option:

Manageable hiking time (1.5–2 hours)

The most scenic viewpoints

Flexibility to explore at your own pace

Perfect fit for a relaxed, foodie-forward itinerary

 Option 2: Optional Boat Tour — Skip the Hike, Sail Instead

Commitment Level: Easy | Minimal walking

Prefer sea breezes over switchbacks? Enjoy a relaxed boat tour along the coastline—cruising past cliffside villages, dipping into turquoise coves, and savoring the Mediterranean magic from the water.

Price: $90–$160 per person (varies by boat size, duration, and inclusions) Booking: Advance booking through us is required. Space is limited.

Day 6: Free Day in Florence + Farewell Dinner

A slow, spacious final day to savor Florence at your own pace.

Today is intentionally designed as a slower, more flexible day. After several days of exploring and eating our way through Italy, this is your chance to enjoy Florence in whatever way feels best — wandering, resting, shopping, sipping, or simply soaking in the magic of the city.

Your host will be available throughout the day for recommendations, directions, and support. Choose one activity or none at all — this day is yours.

Can’t-Miss Ideas

Small Museums: Museo del Duomo, Bargello, or Museo Novecento — all easy, beautiful, and manageable.

Markets & Strolls: San Lorenzo Market, Mercato Centrale, or a relaxed walk through the artisan shops of the Oltrarno.

Outdoor Moments: Boboli Gardens, a stroll along the Arno, or the panoramic view from Piazzale Michelangelo.

Foodie Favorites: Aperitivo at sunset, a casual trattoria lunch, or a gelato tasting at spots like La Carraia or Dei Neri.

Quick Gems: Visit the historic Santa Maria Novella Pharmacy, browse Via Tornabuoni, or climb Giotto's Bell Tower for incredible views.

This day is all about slowing down, savoring Florence, and ending the trip with whatever brings you joy.

Farewell Dinner

In the evening, we'll come together for our final group dinner in Florence — a warm, celebratory meal to toast our week of food, friendship, and unforgettable moments. This is our chance to savor one last Italian feast together before departure day.

Meals included:

✓ Breakfast & dinner

 Accommodation included: Private Accommodations near Florence

Day 7: Departure Day – Arrivederci, but Not Goodbye

Your journey ends (for now) as you depart from Florence's Amerigo Vespucci Airport (FLR). Flights may leave at any time, but if your heart's tugging at your suitcase, you're not alone—we've only just begun to uncover the beauty of this region.

Your guide is happy to arrange optional extensions for those craving more: think the sun-soaked cliffs of Southern Italy, the quiet charm of nearby historical towns, or simply more time soaking in Florence's timeless allure. Honestly? Personally, I could spend months here and still find new things to love.

Whether you extend the adventure or bid farewell, we're here to help craft whatever dream you're ready to chase next.
